Specification – Application Engineer

We are seeking an individual who has good communication and technical/engineering skills to join our team as a full time engineer. We would like an individual with a four year degree in one of the engineering disciplines, however a two year degree may also be considered. Engineering or wire and cable experience is a plus.

The job entails working with the engineering, sales, manufacturing, and quality teams internally. This individual will also have some contact with customers to provide them technical support and guidance.

The main responsibilities will entail creating product costs, customer drawings, manufacturing instructions, quality instructions, manufacturing process and product improvements, and development of new products.

We offer competitive pay compensation, medical package and a 401k benefit package.
